INTRODUCTION.

LANGUAGE is an invention of the human race, for communicating their ideas to one another, either in Speaking or Writing. To speak is incumbent on all; to write is absolutely necessary but to a few. The first, therefore, is the most useful; but cannot be well performed without knowing the just value of every letter of the Alphabet. We shall treat, therefore, more particularly of that essential branch of grammar; and then make a few cursory remarks on some of the other parts of this elegant and polite art.

C H A P. I.

On the ALPHABET in General.

THE English Alphabet consists of six and twenty letters, a, b, c, d, e, f, g, h, i, j, k, l, m, n, o, p, q, r, s, t, u, v, w, x, y, z; of these, a, e, i, o, u, are denominated vowels, because of themselves they form a complete sound; but all the rest are called consonants, because without the assistance of a vowel they cannot form a sound. Nevertheless, y is a vowel, when it does not begin a syllable, as in fly, zephyr; nay, w after a, e, or o, is often placed in the end or middle of a syllable, for u, and may therefore be deemed a half vowel, as in paw, maw, flaw; but it can never be considered as a real vowel, because without the aid of another vowel, it cannot constitute a syllable, which is the result of so many letters as form a complete sound, (as I, You, He,) which can never have less than one vowel, nor is allowed to take in more than four.

Those syllables, which contain two or more vowels, are mostly pronounced long, as Good, seed, knowe; but the syllables that are confined to one vowel, are mostly pronounced short, as can, ben, fit.
Seed,

That kind of syllable, which containeth two vowels together, is called a Diphthong, and fifteen of these are in the English tongue, as ai, au, ei, oi, ui, ou, ea, ee, ie, oa, eo, eu, oo, æ, æ. At the end of words u and i are changed into w and y, as in say, pray, joy, pew, law, now, buy.

Those syllables that contain three vowels are called Triphtongs, as in beau, lieu.

Syllables are to be divided according to the following rules. 1. When a consonant is placed between two vowels, it must be joined to the latter, as in de-sert, excepting x, which must be added to the former; as in ex-ult. 2. When two consonants are placed between two vowels they must be separated, as in cor-rect, tem-per: unless they can begin a syllable, as re-flect, lea-ther. 3. When three consonants can begin a syllable, then they must not be parted, as in illu-strate; but if they cannot begin a syllable, then part them as in pun-ster. 4. When two vowels vowels do not make a Diphthong, they are to be parted, as ru-in, ri-or, phi-al.

We finish this chapter with observing, that all words containing one whole word, and a syllable, must be separated into their original parts, as dis-taste, part-ly, un-appr, reel-ing.

CH A P. II.

Of the sound of particular Letters; and also of those that are either sunk or transposed in Utterance.

Of the Letter A.

BEFORE ld, lk, ll, and le, ending a syllable, A sounds like the Diphthong au, as in bald, bauld, chalk, chaik, fall, faul, balt, hault.

2.

It is pronounced like i when age ends a word, as advantage, advantige, but is sounded

ed like u when words terminate in ai, ar, as final, finul, pillar, pillor.

3.

In the words justian, fustin, metul, metl, parliament, parlement, Pbaraob, faro, a is not pronounced. In those proper names which have aa, one is omitted in pronunciation, as in Isaac, Isac.

Of the Letter B.

B must not be heard in the words bomb,
bom, numb, num, thumb, thum, debtor, det- ter, lamb, lam, limb, lim, subtil, suttle.
 But the sound of b, must be lengthened in the words climb, clime, comb, come, as if they were followed by an e final. B sometimes makes o sound as if it was doubled, as for example, in tomb, toom, womb, woom.

C

Sounds like k before a, o, u, i, and y, as in can, kan, coil, koit, cup, kup, clot, klot, crack, krack; and likewise after i
 when it terminates a syllable, as physic, physik.

2.

It is pronounced like s before e, i, y, as in
cess,

{ 8 }

cess, sels, citron, sitron, cymbeline,ymbeline;
 but it sounds like k in Aceldama, Akeldama, Cedron, Keatron, Cis, Kiss, sceleton, skeleton, sceptic, skeptic, seeva, skeva.

3. Cb is pronounced like k in scripture names and some other words, as in chymist, ky- mist. In French words it sounds like sh, as machine, masheen. However, in general the sound of c is harder than sh, and softer than k, as in church, touch.

 In the end and midst of words, ci before a vowel, must be pronounced like sh, as in superficial, superficial, vicious, vicious.

E.

In primitive words of two or more syllables, that end in e or er, is sounded like i, as gravel, gravel, comet, comit; but you must except inquet, coket, picquet, piket.
 But when e ends a word, it is to be pronounced like u, as in border, bordur.

Take notice, that in words of two or more

more syllables that end in le, after a consonant e is not pronounced, nor when it precedes n, nor in words ending in vel, or evil, as fribble, fribbl', burden, burd'n, shovel, shov'l, devil, dev'l. It sounds like li, in pullen, pullin; and the same in sullen, woollen, chicken, Garden, linen, bidden, warren.

3.

E constitutes a syllable, in alo-es, antipodes, &c. as well as in names that end in es, Euphrates; but the following make but one syllable, Charles, James, Quarles, Thames.

4.

E final is frequently not sounded, but only lengthens the preceding syllable, as dote, doat; but in foreign names it is always sounded as Manda-ne, Celime-ne, as also in the following words, apostro-phe, catastro-phe, diasto-le, epito-me, hyperbo-le, jubi-le, simile, syiso-le.

5.

After two consonants, e final only softens the sound of c and g, but shortens that of s, as in prance, prans, fadge, fadge, purse, purce, purce, fave where it lengthens the sound of a preceding vowel, after ang, ß, and th, as in range, raing, wasse, waist, writhe, wroithe.

6.

When the accent is not on the preceding syllable, e final does not lengthen the sound, for example, in venture, ventur; picture, picture: nor when it follows a diphthong or a vowel, as believe, beleeve, fie, f; except after u, in collogue, disembogue, Hague, fatigue, intrigue, rogue, vague, vogue: it does not lengthen the o in the words above, dove, glove, love, shove, come, lome, done, none, in all which the o is pronounced like o short: except also give and live, where the two vowels are sounded short.

G

Before a consonant g hath a guttural hard sound, and when it follows the vowels a, o, u, in the end of a word; as in glory, glass, nag, flog, log, snug: but when placed before e, i, y, in the same syllable, it obtains a soft sound similar to that of j; for example, Gentle, jentle, liturgy, liturjy: proper names are to be excepted, as Geba, Gibeon; and the following following words, Geese, Geld, Gelding, Galt, Gewgaw, Gibberish, Giggles, Gift, Girdle, Giver, anger, canker, finger, tyger, begin.

It is to be wished that instead of g, j were used before e, i, and y, and that in our language g, were denominated ga, which would render the Pronunciation much easier to learners.

At the ending of words g is not uttered, as in smarting, smartin; some very good speakers vary from this rule.

In the words enough, laugh, &c. the joint letters gb are sounded like f; but in some other words are sunk, as in figh, fi: however, though not pronounced, they are always printed, in order to lengthen the sound between the letters i and t, as in light, lite, which without them would be pronounced short, as in lit.

When a syllable is either begun or ended with gn, the g is not pronounced as in Gnaw, naw, deign, dein; but when, after i, o, or u, gn concludes a syllable, the g serves to lengthen the sound of the n, as sign, fine.

When-

H

Whenever h begins a syllable before a vowel, it has no other sound but a strong breathing, as in his; but is sunk in rhetoric, rettoric, apothecary, apottecary, lanthorn, lantern, phthisic, tific, thyme, tyme, Anthony, Antony, Catherine, Cattern, Grantham, Grantam, Tbame, Tame, Tbames, Tames, Thomas, Tommas.

I

Is sounded short before a consonant in the same syllable, as in rid, but long before gh, as in high; also when the syllable hath e final, as in spite, as well as in behind, blind, find, &c. Before er, and on, it is generally sounded like the consonant y, as in Farrier, Faryer, dominion, dominyon: it is sounded like e, as in intrigue, intregue, machine, machene, magazine, magazene: like u when placed before on, as in Passion, pashun; and like u in dire, durt, stir, stur, birch, burch, &c. but it is sunk in the words devil, dev'l, business, bizness, cousin, cuz'n, medicine, med-cine, ordinance, ordnance, ordinary, ordnary, Salisbury, Salsberry. I is sounded mostly short short in Scripture names, as Gibeon, Gibeun, but long before ab, as jab; and ra, as in Beriab, Zachariab, Abi-jab, Adoni-ram; also in Mi-cab, Simon; and in the terminations ite, ites, Israelite, Ismaelites; and when it ends a name, as Levi.

K

Is a letter not sounded when it begins a word before n, Knight, night.

L

The sound of l is sunk in many words, as in calm, caam, psalm, saam, bals, haaf, could, cood, would wood, balk, bauk, salmon, sammon, Holbourn, Hobourn.

N

The sound of n is suppressed when it terminates a word after m, as in contemn, contem, limn, lim.

O

Is long before ld, ll, lt, when they end a syllable, as in told, toald, poll, pole, dolt, doalt; between w and r it sounds like an u, as in world, wurld; also when words of many syllables have their ending in or, om, ron, ion, as actor, actur, blossom, blossum, iron, iurn, fashion, fashun, as well as in above.

bove, abuve, dove, duve, love, luvē, somesum, done, dun, other, urther, &c. o mostly sounds before r, like the diphthong au, as in born, haurn, morn, mairn; like i in mag-got, maggitt, waggon, wagginn, ribbond, rib-bin, women, wimmin, spiggot, spiggitt; the sound of o is lost in the terminations con or son, as Bacon, Bac'n, poison, pois'n, and generally in the termination ton, as cotton, cott'n, and sometimes in the termination on,
as carrion, carrin.

P

Is never sounded where it begins a word before i, as in psalm, salm, nor between m, and t, as in tempted, temted; ph is sounded like f, as in Phillip, Fillip, prophet, pro-fet; but in compound words they are separated, as in up-beave.

Q

Is sounded like h, when words end in que, quer, quet, as picque, pik, conquer, conker, banquet, banket, and in some others, as in laquer, lacker, liquor, licker, pasquil, passil.

R

Is pronounced after e, (tho' written before it) in words that end in cre, gre, ire, tre, as in acre, aker, maugre, manger, mire, mier, metre, meter, and is mostly sounded after e, when words terminate in ron, as iron, iurn.
cre,

S

When written first, or double, or before a z, or between a consonant and e final, hath a sharp and lisping sound, like to a c, before e, i, and y, as in fit, cit, kist, kisse, past, passit, pulse, pulce; but when it is written single at the end of words then it sounds soft like x, as in days, dayz, except when it sounds sharp after the diphthong ou, as in jealous, jellus, and also in thus, this, alas, yes, us; but when placed between two vowels, s generally is sounded like x, as in bosom, bozom, and often between a vowel and a consonant, as in husband, huzband: it is soft in damsel, sweeten, &c. yet observe, the letter s, is entirely lost in isle, ile, island, iland, viscount, vicount, lisle, lile, Carlisse, Carlile.

T

Must not be sounded between s and en, le, or on, because it makes the s sound sharp, like ss, as in listen, lissen, buffle, bussel, Preston, presson; ti coming before a vowel is sounded like so, as in portion, poshion, except they begin, gin a word, as in tied, or follow a consonant, as in question; or supply the place of ty as emptiness from empty; in all which cases ti sounds like ty, and also in some proper names before a vowel, as in Phaltiel, &c.

U

Sounds long when it terminates a syllable, as in Lucy, except st begin the next syllable, as in muster, must-er, and in public, pub-lic, publish, pub-lish, study, stud-dy, punish, pun-ish; when the u comes between g and e final, it only hardens g, as in rogue, roag, as well as in guest, guild, guilt, guinea, guard, guy: u is not to be sounded when que, quer, or quet, terminate a word, as in cinque, cink, conquer, conker, banquet, banket, nor in many other words, as laquey, lackey, liquorice, likorish, masquerade, malquerade, pasquil, paskil.

W

When a consonant is sounded like oo, as in want, ooant, wit, ooit; when it is placed before ba, be, bi, it is sounded after the h; for instance, whale, hwale, when, hwen, white, hwhite, and was so written in days of yore;

more; it is not sounded when it begins a word before r, or h, as in *cris*t, rist, *rub*er, *hor*e, *qu*rath, *ra*th, *qu*ber, *hoo*m, &c.

X

Is sounded like an x, at the beginning of a proper name, as in Xenophon, Zenophon, Xerxes, Zerxes.

Y

Is sounded like y, when it terminates words of two or more syllables after a consonant, as in bonny, bonne; except the termination be in fy, edify; or an accent be on the y, as comply; in all which cases, as in monosyllables it is sounded like i.

OF DIPHTHONGS, &amp;c.

RULES in regard to Diphthongs and Triphthongs, pointing out their several sounds, and the words in which they are divided.

ai sounds like a, rendered long by final e as in fair, fare, but like an i in four, four, &c. au, i, are separated in words that terminate in um, a-u, a-i, a-r, a-ly, as Ephra-im, la-ic, Tha-is, ja-ir, la-ly.

Au preceding nt, and nch, are sounded like aa, as in vaunt, vaant, launch, laanch; but in most foreign names a-u, are separated, as in Menela-us.

Ea is mostly sounded like ee, as in feat, feet, but like a long a, in pear, pare, tear, tare, wear, ware, steak, stake, great, grate; like short a in bearken, harken, beare, hart, beareth; ea is sounded like short e in bread, bred, spread, spred, earl, erl, &c. Ea are separated in words derived from Latin, Greek, and Hebrew, consequently in all Scripture names, as in re-al, Jude-a: the same must be observed when pre is before a as in pre-amble, and likewise in miscre-ant, venge-ance.

Ee always have the long sound of e, as in Breed, brede, feed, fede; they are separated in names as Be-erith; and in words compounded with pre or re, as pre-engage, re-edify.

Ei is sounded like ai, as in weight, waight; but like ce in perceive, perceeve; and like i, when feit ends a word, as in counterfeit, counterfit; ei are separated at the end of Scripture names, as re-i, likewise in De-ism, also when words have re prefixed, as re-instate. Eg

Eo are sounded short as in scoff, sef, yeoman, yemman, leopard, leppard, jeopardy, jeppardy; likewise in George, Jorge; like ee in people, peep: but they are separated in all other words, as in pigeon.

Eu generally speaking has the long sound of u as in Euphrates, Uphrates, Eunuch, Unuch; but eu are separated when re begins words, as re-unite, or names end in e-us, Thaddeus.

E and æ are sounded like e, as in Cæsar, Cesar, Oedipus, Eddipus.

Eau, and teu, are sounded like eu, as in beautify, beutify, adieu, adue; except that eau is sounded like o, in beau, bo, bureau, buro; and u like v in lieutenant, lievtenant.

ie are mostly sounded, like ee, as in Brief, breef, tbief, theef; but at the end of words like an i, lie, li, and like e, in friend, frend; they are separated in proper names, and words derived from the Latin, as Adri-el, Cli-ent; and likewise in words that end with a syllable beginning with e, as in fi-er, sarri-erb.

Oo retain the long sound of o, as in Groan, grone; but are sounded like au in groat, grant; they are separated in proper names, as Jo-ab, and after c in co-adjutor, co-agulate, except in coal, coat, coax, &c.

Of have the long sound of i, as in boil, bile; but they are separated in go-ing, &c.

Oo sound like long u, as in broad, brude; but like long o in doar, dore; floor, flors; like u between long and short, in good, food, wood; like short u in blood, blud, flood, flud, foot, fo, &c. they are separated in proper names, as in Co-os, and in co-operate, co-ordinate.

Ou are properly sounded in thou; but like au before ght, as in thought, taught; and like a short u, in words of several syllables that terminate in our, or in ous, as saviour, faviur, famous, famus; likewise in the following words, trouble, truble, double, dubble, rough, rugh, flourish, flurish, country, cuntry, couple, cupple, courage, currage, touch, tuch, young, yung; ou is sounded much like oo in youth, yooth, uncouth, uncooth, you, yoo, ibrough, through, through, your, yoor, could, cood, should, shood, would, wood.

U are pronounced long as in cruse, cruse, suit, sute; but short in built, bilt, circuit, cerkit, conduit, condit; they are not diphthongs in any other words, because the u does no more than harden g, as in Guide, ghide; or is obliged to follow q, as in quirt; or else u-i, are separated as in Bru-in.

OF STOPS.

AFTER the sound of the letters, &c. in pronunciation, the next thing to be learned, to become a good reader, and prevent a confusion in the sense, is the use and meaning of the stops which are four, to wit, The first is a Comma (,) and is a resting time, while one may be counted; the second, a Semicolon (;) while two may be counted; then a Colon (:) while three may be counted; and the fourth which is the Period, or full stop (.) denotes the sense to be complete, and is rested upon as long as four may be slowly counted. There are besides these four, the note of Interrogation (?) when a question is asked, asked, as well as the note of Admiration, and Exclamation (!) at both which the reader is to stop as at a period, but with a more elevated tone of voice.

The Comma generally divides the small imperfect parts of a sentence from one another. The Semicolon shews part of the sense expressed, and part in suspense. The Colon denotes, that the sense is perfect, but that it will be further illustrated. The Period terminates the sentence. The note of Interrogation follows a question. The note of Admiration succeeds anger, terror, surprise, rapture, sorrow.

PRINCIPAL RULES

For dividing WORDS of several syllables, and for spelling and writing English.

IN spelling words of several syllables, all the letters, whereof the first is composed, must be joined together and pronounced; then the letters that make up the second syllable, must be put together, which when pronounced pronounced must be added to the first ; and so on, till the whole word be finished ; as for instance, in the word Multiplication :

m u l — mul

t i — ti — mul-ti

p l i — pli — mul-ti-pli

c a — ca — mul-ti-pli-ca t i — ti — mul-ti-pli-ca-ti

o n — on — mul-ti-pli-ca-ti-on.

In order to know exactly what number of syllables there are in a word, you must find out all the distinct Sounds that are in it ; as for instance, in Mar-tyr there are two, in Mar-tyr-dom there are three, and in Mar-ty-ro-lo-gy five, &c.

The general rule for spelling is this : divide your syllables directly, and put as many letters to one syllable, as make one distinct sound in the pronunciation of the word, as di-al, de-ni-al, con-gre-ga-ti-on, &c.

The special rules are the four following, namely,

1. When a single consonant falls between two vowels, it is joined with the latter ; as

pe-ris,
pe-ris.

per-ist, fu-nish, &c. though in this rule there are some exceptions, and the letter x is always joined to the preceding vowel, as tax-es, box-es, &c.

2 When several consonants of the same kind come together they must be divided, as dag-ger, let-ter, big-ger, &c.

3 When two consonants come together in the middle of a word, they must be placed in the syllables, according to the distinct sounds; as for instance, pre-scribe, re-trench, a-ble, ta-ble, &c. but in sis-ter, blis-ter, bas-ket, eas-ket, &c. the consonants must be divided, one going to the first, and the other to the latter syllable, because they are so pronounced.

4. When two vowels come together in the middle, and both are distinctly pronounced, they must be parted; as for example, di-al, tri-al, cre-ate, re-enter, &c. These are the principal rules. The exceptions are as follow. First, in all such words as are composed of two distinct ones, as house-wife, free-hold, where-as, where-in, &c. Secondly, in such words as consist of a primitive and a preposition preposition preceding it, as ad-orn, en-ure, en-able, &c. And lastly, such as consist of one word and a termination, viz. charm-etb, ed, ing, er; paint-etb, ed, ing, er, &c. In all cases the single words must keep their own proper letters and syllables distinct, and the little prepositions and terminations must be spelt distinctly by themselves.

You are likewise to observe,

1. That when ch, ph, th, or sh, begin either a word or a syllable, they must be looked upon as single consonants, except where they are founded apart, as in Clap-bam; &c.
2. That there are many words wherein the sound of the consonant is truly double, and belongs properly to both syllables, though custom has joined the consonant to the latter; as bo-mage, i-mage, va-nish, &c.
3. That some words begin with two consonants, and some with three.
4. In monosyllables instead of t, write ll, after a single vowel, as fall, call, tall, &c. but in words of two or more syllables make use only of one l, as wo-ful, doubt-ful, ful-ful, mar-ti-al, cri-ti-cal, &c.

With regard to spelling and writing true English, the best way will be to pronounce your words clear and distinct, syllable by syllable : give the full sound to every part of a word, and write it as it is pronounced in the hardest and harshest manner ; as for instance, i-ron, not i-ury, a-pron, not a-purn, cal-f, caf, &c.

As you read, observe how the vowels and consonants are sounded in different sorts of words, whether English or Foreign, and remember to write them accordingly.

Observe where letters keep their proper sound, and where they change it.

Take notice also of such letters as are silent, and not pronounced at all ; and remember to put those letters in when you write, though you leave them out when you read.

Accustom yourself to spell every word true ; and if you are in the least dubious, write it not without consulting this or some other English Dictionary.

Of

OF QUANTITY and ACCENT.

THE general rule to be observed in the pronouncing of words and syllables is to sound every syllable according to its proper Quantity; and every word of two or more syllables must have its proper Accent.

By Quantity I mean the distinction of syllables into Long and Short, in reading either prose or verse; and this depends on the various sounds of the vowels. But here let it be observed, that though in reading verse the accent must be laid on the same syllables as in prose, and the words pronounced in the same manner; yet a syllable in verse is called long or short, not according to the long or short vowel, but according to the Accent.

By Accent is meant that particular stress or force of sound which the voice lays upon any syllable, whether it be long or short, as upon ro, in ro-ver, or bap, in bap-py; and though the accent be more frequently laid on a long syllable than a short one, it is not so always; nor is the accent always upon the same syllables in the same words; for the same word,

when it is a verb, has the accent upon the last syllable, as to concért, to contráct, to de-fért; but when it is a noun it is accented on the first, as a cóncert, a cóntrect, a désert. Again, Compound and derivative words are not always accented like their primitives; for in Kéeper the accent is strong on the first syllable; which in Hóusekeeper is lost. So confér, présér, and the like, have their accents on the last syllable; but conferéce, préférece, &c. on the first.

Some long words also have two accents, as ómniprésént, fámiliáritý, jústificátió; and some three, as tránssubstantiátió; but then the last is commonly the strongest; and as there are no general Rules for placing the accent on words of several syllables, we must be determined by custom; yet it is worth observing, that in our language, the accent is generally removed as far as possible, at least as far as conveniently may be, from the last syllable.-- We shall add a few particular remarks to this general observation.

I. In words of two syllables, which are both

both short or both long, the accent is usually laid on the first, as in happy, private, and the like.

2. If the first syllable only be long, the accent is generally laid upon it.

3. When the accent is laid upon the last syllable, the word is commonly a sort of compound, as comply, conjoin, relapse.

4. In words of three or more syllables the accent is seldom laid on the two last, but often on the first or second, as intemperence, controversy, abominable. But after all the rules that can be given, proper tables or catalogues of words will be the best help to children in this particular.

Notes of REFERENCE, and other MARKS.

1. A Postrophe, is a Comma placed at the head of a word, and denotes a letter, or letters, to be left out for quicker pronunciation; as pain'd, for pained, can't for cannot.

2. Asterisk *, refers to the margin, or bottom.

tom of the page ; and several of them together signify that something is wanting, or not fit to be mentioned.

3 Braces , tie words or lines together that relate to each other ; and in poetry denote that three lines have the same rhyme, are called a Triplet.

4 Brackets [ ], include words that explain something just going before.

5 Caret ^, is set below the line ; and signifies that something is left out by mistake, and afterwards interlined, and that it must be taken in there.

6 Diarefis, two dots placed over the latter of two vowels that must be parted, and might else be taken for a diphthong ; as in Gileäd : which mark, for the sake of unlearned readers, should be used oftner than it now is.

7 Ellipsis, fills the gap in a word or name whose middle letters are purposely left out ; as K—g G—e for King George ; it also denotes that Part of a cited verse or sentence which is omitted, either at the beginning or end ; as

Words

*Words once flown
Are in the bearers power, not our own.*

Being placed between words it is called a break, and signifies a sudden stop or interruption ; frequent examples whereof may be found in plays, novels, &c.

Hypben, is made use of to join two words together, as Gold-smith, Watch-maker ; which are called compound words : also to connect the parts of a word that is divided for want of room at the end of a line, as you will often see in books. Being set over a word it is called a Dash, and denotes the omission of m, or n ; as Fair Writing is comendable, for Fair writing is commendable.

9 Index ☞, points to something very remarkable.

10 Obelisk †, refers to the bottom, or margin.

11 Paragraph ¶, comprehends all the Sentences that are under one head, or subject ; and is commonly denoted by placing the first line line a little inward, which is called Indenting.

12 Parallel Lines ||, refer to the side, or bottom.

13 Parenthesis (.), includes words that may either be read or passed over, without altering the sense.

14 Quotation, is a reversed Comma, at the head of a word, and denotes the passage against which it is placed to be taken from an Author in his own words; as

• Let all the foreign Tongues alone;
• Till you can spell and read your own.

15 Section §, divides a book or chapter, into parts.

Some necessary Orthographical Directions for writing correctly, and when to use Capital Letters, and when not.

1. Direction. LET the first Word of every Book, Epistle, Note, Bill, Verse, (whether it be in Prose, Rhyme, or Blank Verse) begin with a Capital.

2. Direction. Let proper Names of Persons, Places, Ships, Rivers, Mountains, &c. begin with a Capital; also all appellative Names of Professions, Callings, &c.

3. Direction. 'Tis esteemed ornamental to begin every Substantive in a Sentence with a Capital, (if any considerable Stress be laid upon it) in order to make it the more remarkable and conspicuous.

4. Direction. None but Substantives, whether common, proper, or personal, may begin with a Capital, except in the Beginning, or immediately after a Full Stop.

5. Direction. Qualities, Affirmations, or Particles, must not begin with a Capital, unless unless such Words begin, or come immediately after a Period; then they never fail to begin with a Capital.

6. Direction. If any notable Saying or Passage of an Author be quoted in his own Words, it begins with a Capital, though not immediately after a Period.

7. Direction. Let not a Capital be written in the Middle of a Word among small Letters.

8. Direction. Where Capitals are used through whole Words or Sentences, something extraordinarily great is meant. They are also used in Titles of Books for Ornament Sake.

9. Direction. The Pronoun I, and the Exclamatory O, must be written with a Capital.

10. Direction. The Letter q has always the Letter u following it.

11. Direction. The long s must never be inserted immediately after the short s, nor at the End of a Word.
